There is a good deal of talk in sporting circles over an account received by mail from one of the sporting men who went from here to attend the Charleston races, of some buildozing iere. The details received are meagre. All that is known is that on Wednesday evening as the boys had gathered in the pool room there entered a tough citizen by the name of Walsh. Waish had a gambling wheel on the track last year, and this year he bid $1,650 for the pool privileges, but the Northern pool sellers outbid him. This filled him with disgust for Northern sporting men, and on entering the pool room e loudly proclaimed his feelings. The portly hulk of Al Mackenzie seemed to strike his fancy as a target, and he simed his gun at it. Al jumped, and all jumped. walsh's friends took his gun away, earnostly assured him that he was a perfect gentleman, and begged that he would be friendly and sociable. Walsh reciprocated their assurances of consideration, but maintained that it was impossible for him to tolerate the New Yorkers. He walked up to Jim McCloud, and flourished a revolver under his nose. Jim jumped, and all jumped. Walsh was persuaded to take a walk. He, however, ovidently thought he had a dut to perform; for when Gould Sellick and John Haffield began to sell pools, he came in again with his gun and took exception to the whole proceedings. He poked Sellick in the ribs with his gun, and both Sellick and Haffield agreed that it wasn't a good evening to sell pools. The sporting man who sonds in the account says: "As I write they are making a book down here as to whether John and Gould will begin selling again or will go home on the first train." Walsh then went over to Cotton and Beman's faro' ank and objected to the proceedings there. There was a prompt agreement with his views on the subject. The writer says: "Davy Johnson came over to the hotel with his checks in his pocket. He didn't wait to cash in. Boman was dealing, but it is a point with me who was over to the hotel first—he or Davy." The writer concludes by saying: "I've got a wheel out on the course, but as this fellow threatened the lives of every one out there, I don't know if it is policy to continue, I don't want to be a target for him."

The buildozed persons are all well-known sporting men of this city.
Gould Sellick is slim in build and rather tall; is 30 years old, and belongs to the class of feather weights. Walsh's friends took his gun away, earnostly is 30 years old, and belonge to feather weights.

John Hatfleid is tall and big boned; is about 27 and is a middle weight.

Jim McCloud is tall, and has been a good man in his time. He is about 58, and is also a middle hat the control of the cont in his time. He is about 35, and is also a middle weight.

Al Mackenzie is tall and portiy; is about 35, is a heavy weight, and is a good sparrer, but is out of condition. If he should win a belt, it would have to be a long one.

Dave Johnson is over six feet high, and weighs about 225 pounds. Although only 24, he is too slow in handling himself. He would find few bacters in a match with Johnny Dwyer or Paddy Ryan.

The friends of these gentlemen are eager for their return, so that they may be interviewed in regard to their interesting experiences.

JOY IN WASHINGTON MARKET,

Have a New Comptroller. The change in the Comptrollership caused great rejoicing in Washington Market, where the Iron Hand," as Jacob Seebacher once called it, was felt to be oppressive, and the butchers passed merry jokes over the result. "Ain't you sorry you paid that assessment?" shouted one to his neighbor.

"Well," said the other, "I won't have to pay another, anyhow."

The first speaker thus explained: "Kelly had us standowners all assessed this year to carry the election. He had favored the Gansevoort market scheme, was opposed to our having a new building, and had put a mean set of office-holders down here to annoy us. He knew that we looked upon him as hostile to our interests; so he didn't ask us directly for money. But his henchmen came down here and said if we wanted to conciliate Mr. Kelly, now was our chance to please him very much. I didn't conciliate five cents' worth myself. I told them that they might take my stand away, but under no circumstances would I support John Kelly or his candidates. They let me alone, but they got $200 of — & Co., over there that I know of, and —, down yonder, gave them $50, and promised $50 more, which he hasn't paid yet. They raised about $1.500 down here in all."

"I shall keep the Christmas greens up for thirty days for this," said snother marketman. "Mr. Campbell is a man who will see justice done us, and he will protect the men who give so much revenue to the city. You remember he removed the street stands as obstructions some time ago, and Kelly's man Keenan got them put back. Mr. Campbell is aid that the men who held stalls in the market and paid the city rent for thom should have their interests protected and that street venders should not be allowed to take away their trade. He's a good friend of the markets."

A deputation of Waehington Market men will visit Mr. Campbell to-day to express their

the markets."

A deputation of Washington Market men will visit Mr. Campbell to-day to express their pleasure at his appointment. It is not unlikely that some changes in the market efficials will be urged upon Mr. Campbell so soon as he becomes informed as to the market management.

THE LAWYERS EXERCISED.

A Law Passed in New Jersey that Seems to Abolish Taxes on Personal Property. The lawyers in New Jersey are very much exercised over the meaning of a law passed in Trenton last winter. The law reads as follows:

As act conversion the assessment and collection of taxes, approved.

March 10, 1880.

Be it ennected by the Senate and General Assembly of the State of New Jersey. That all taxes assessed in any town, city, or municipality of this State shall be assessed upon the real estate within the corporate limits of such town, city, or municipality of non-resident, as well as of resident, and the same shall be assessed and collected in the same way and manner as township, county, and State taxes are now assessed and collected.

2. And be it enacted. That all acts or parts of acts, special or public, so far as they conflict with this act, be and the same are hereby repealed.

The act was accidentally discovered, soon after the adjournment of the Legislature among the documents in the office of the Secreamong the documents in the office of the Secretary of State. It occasioned considerable discussion at the time, and was made the subject of a consultation by many of the leading lawyers in the State. On Investigation it was found that the bill was introduced in the Senate by Senator Canfield, and that, as regularly drafted, it contained the words "and personal property" after the words "shall be assessed upon the real estate," but that clause was stricken out while it was in committee. The law as it stands, with the omission, seems to abolish taxation on personal property and confine all taxation to real estate. The counsel who, in conjunction with Gov. McClellan, took the matter into consideration, recommended at first that an extra session of the Legislature be called to repeal this act, as they feared that, in consequence of it, many people would decline to pay their personal tax. On further consultation, however, they determined that, whintever the law meant, it certainly did not mean to abolish the tax on personal property, and they resolved to wait until the next regular session of the Legislature before having it repealed.

A reporter for The Sun ascertained yesterday that Senator Canfield's intention was to make the personal tax a lien on real estate. His object was to compel the holders of shares of stock in the Dover iron mines to pay the tax on their shares by rendering the tax an incumbrance on real estate. How the act came to be altered their to its present form no one seems to know. tary of State. It occasioned considerable disto its present form no one seems to know cable despatch on the 1st inst. stated that Mrs. Susan Willis, alias Fletcher, had been arrested" in England, "on a charge of fraud by means of alleged spiritualism." This despatch gave rise to a report that Mr. and Mrs. J. William Pletcher, who some time before had been defendants in an action brought against then had been defendants in an action brought against them in Boston, on a charge of emberglement, had defaulted in their ball, and had wone to Europe. This was not the case. Mr. and Mrs. Fletcher did not default nor leave the country, but when the case was called the complainant's counsel amounced that his client had left the country had abandoned the case. The charge of embezzlement was based upon the retention of a portion of some jewelry given to the Fretchers by Juitet Harr Davies, and English lady who was atone time agreat friend of theirs, but who, it is alleged, was 'krned against them by James McGeary slias James Mack. The Fretchers had obtained a warrant for his arrest on the charge of larcenty, and he left the country with Miss Davies.

The Fletchers Exonerated.

NEWBURGH'S CHURCH WAR. Committee of the Classic Reporting !

NEWBURGH, Dec. 10 .- The war in the American Reformed Church here does not abate. The factions have divided into Carrolltes and anti-Carrollites, and the contest for the supremacy is rapidly growing more earnest Dr. Carroll, the pastor whom it is sought to de-pose, still holds the fort, and is backed up by several steadfast friends. Among these are some of the clergymen of the Classis of some of the clergymen of the Classis of Orange. A few days ago the consistory of the church hold a meeting which some of the anti-Carrollites would not attend. At this meeting John A. Sands, a dry goods merchant of Water street, and an anti-Carrollite, sont in his resignation of the offices of Deacon and Treasurer, which was accepted. Mr. Sands also sent a letter to the consistory, in which he took exceptions to statements publicly made by the Rev. Mr. Carroll about the financial condition of the church. Then followed a meeting of the anti-Carrollites, who now number nearly one hundred, on the paper asking for the pastor's immediate resignation, but what was done does not appear. Last night a committee from the classis held meeting at the residence of the Sheriff, Mr. B. B. Odell, who is a member of the clurch, for the purpose of investigating the "disturbed state" of the congregation. This committee was composed of clergymen, and was called by the elders of the church. Written requests were heard. The particulars of the songregation, and both Carrollites and anti-Carrollites were heard. The particulars of the inquiry cannot be ascertained, but the report of the clergymen composing the committee, the Rev. Edward W. Bentley. Chairman, is made public, and is decidedly favorable to the inquiry cannot the statements made by the elders and by a committee of the anti-Carrollites, and they find the church in a prosperous condition in numbers, in financial affairs, and in spiritual ife. They advise the anti-Carrollites to unite heartily with the Carrollites, of whom they say there is a majority, in sustaining that if the anti-Carrollites are not able to accept the advice they profer, the next best thing they can do is to regularly withdraw from the membership of the church.

TWO CLASS DAYS AT CORNELL. Result of Division in the Senior Class a ITHACA, Dec. 12 .- There is a split in the enior class at Cornell, resulting from antagonism between the secret society and anti-secret society members. Two sets of class officers have been elected, and unless a reconciliation is brought about there will be two class days. The origin of the trouble seems to be the nomination of George Burr for President by the independent members of the class. Mr. Burr is a student who has won golden opinions, and the society men can make no other charge against him than that he is opposed to societies. On the evening of the 8th of October a full meeting of the senior class was held. The senior officers acted at the meeting, and the senior constitution of the preceding class, with the changes necessary to adapt it to the class of 81, was adopted. Some opposition was made by Mr. Concklin, a friend of the societies, and an opponent of Mr. Hurr. On the previous evening the society men, it seams, had met, and nominated a full set of officers. They did this without consultation with the independents supposing that the ticket would contain only the names of independents, whereas the independents had held no caucus, but had come to a general understanding that the ticket should comprise the beat men of both factions. The consequence was that at the election held on the 18th of October a ticket composed exclusively of independents was chosen.

The society men, however, held another election on the 18th of October, and chose officers from their own faction. The independents have endeavored to bring about a reconsiliations. They held a meeting and adopted resolutions offering to ignore both organizations and reorganize the members anew as the senior class. But the society men would have no reconciliation the support of the faculty and the majority of the students. They have secured Library Hall for June 19, the regular class day, and propose to hold the class day exercises there. The minority have tried, unsuccessfully, to engage the hall for another day in the same month, with the view of holding rival class day exercises. The moority have tried, unsuccessfully, to engage the hall for another day in the same month, with the view of holding rival class day exercises. A Runaway Wife Held for Bigamy

M. Graver of Chitton Springs made complaint before a Justice of the Peace that his wife, Jeannette Graver, had described him and his two children, and, as he was in formed, had been married to Charles A Mervin of Albany. A warrant was issued, and the couple were arrested on Nov. 20 at their home a few miles from Albany. rested on Nov. 20 at their home a low miles from Albany. The case came up for a hearing before Justice Hammond on Saturday. Mervin was charged with having knowingly married the wife of another man. He did not deny theing a married woman when she became his wife. He was field in the aum of $1.50 to await the action of the firmid Jury. Mrs. Graver, who is a prepossessing blonde of about 20, was arraigned on the charge of bugston. In answer to questions she said that her husband was in the habit of becoming intoxicated, and, when in such condition, misued her and reused to contribute toward her support; that she decided to leave him, and went to Albany to visit relatives; that she there became acquainted with Mervin, and soon alterward married him. She was heid to await the action of the Grand Jury. Mr. Graver denies the accusations made by his wife.

Three of his Children Burled at One Time At 1 o'clock on Thursday afternoon, two white hearses waited in front of the house of William J. Acker of 129 Macdougal street. Three of his children, who had died within twenty four hours of diphtheria, were about to be buried. The news of Mr. Acker's bereavement had spread among the neighbors, and when the three small spread among the neighbors, and when the three smallcoffins were brought out of the house and placed in the hearses the streets were packed with sympathizing spectators. The three children were all stricken down about the same time. The elfest, Mary, was 7 years of age, and the pet of the family. She died on Tuesday might at 60-clock. The next in age, William J., axed 4 years and 6 months, died on Monday night; and the other, Walter, 18 months old, died on Tuesday morning at 7 o'clock. The two smaller coffins were placed in one hearse. Mr. Acker has only one child left.
Two deaths from diphtheria occurred the same day in one 'annily, at 19 Jones street, in close proximity to Mr.
Acker's residence.

Stopping a Leak at the Ferry.

The receipts at the Pavonia Ferry were so much reduced lately that the officers became satisfied that a leak existed somewhere, and two detectives were that a leak existed somewhere, and two detectives were placed at the ticket entrance. They quickly discovered that many persons were using expired commutation tickets, some of which were several years old. It has been the custom for commuters to place their ticket in the inside band of the hat, and simply raise the hat and show the ticket in passing the ticket agent at the gate. Old tickets, in many instances after tening thrown away by commuters, have, it is believed, been picked up by persons who used them in this dishonest manner. It is believed that some have erossed the ferry for months and possibly years on one old text, carefully pasted in the hat Commuters are now obtaged to show the current month's ticket are now obtaged to show the current month's ticket are now obtaged to show the current month's ticket area trip, and complaint is made that this struct rule is unnecessary.

Sergeant Trinity of the Richmond County olice, on Thursday night, while passing by the old Var police, on Thursday night, while passing by the old Vanderbilt homestead, at Stapleton, Staten Island, heard some one monning. On making an investigation he discovered a boy half frozen in a hollow tree. The Sergeant took the hear to Police Headquarters, mear by. The little fellow was made comfortable for the night. Yesterday he told Justice McCullough that he had been turned out of his father's house, and had slept in the old tree at might for the past three weeks. He said that his mame was Henry Statemann, and that he was 10 years old. The father of the boy, who was in court, said that his son, not caring to go to school, ran away from home. The father quit the courtroom, taking the boy with him.

Last year the Aqueduct Board of Newark experimented with twenty driven wells at Belleville, and obtained from them 2,500,000 gallons of pure water daily. The wells were afterward given up, but recently forty more were sunk, and now the sixty are in operation. Each well, which is simply a three-inch tube, is driven into the ground forty feet. They all connect with a suction pump, capable or pumping 5,000,000 gallons per algorithm of the pumping 5,000,000 gallons get and the flow has since been at the rate of 5,000,000 gallons daily. The supply required by Newark in winter is about 7,500,000 gallons. persture inside the car fluctuated between 48° and 50° during the entire trip of two hours. The apparatus consists of a heet-tran box, 16° inches wide, 50° inches long, and 5° inches deep, lined with asbestos and felt, into which a sheet-tron drawer containing 25°, bushels of hot fine sand is run. This is attached underneath in the middle of the car, and the heat from the sand seconds through an iron grating in the floor.

James Francis of Glenwood, L. I., a suitor for the hand of Miss Jennis Miller of Glon Cove, was not ac-ceptable to Mrs Miller, and she forbade her daughter to receive his attentions. The girl, however, acted unon her own judgment, and a few evenings ago Francis and she drove to Roslyn and were married. When Mrs Milshe drove to Roslyn and were married. When Mrs. Miller learned of this she procurred a warrant for the girl's arrest, alleging that she was under 14 years of age, the legal age of marriage.
Constable Sherisian found the couple at Francis's house just after midnight, and made them go with him to his home, where they had to ast up all night. In the morring they were arraigned before Justice Frost. The family Bible was produced in court, and the bride proved by it that she was over 14, but not yet 15. She was discharged,

THE SUN FOR 1881

Everybody reads THE SUN. In the edians of this newspaper throughout the year to ome everybody will flud: I All the world's news, so presented that the reader will get the greatest amount of informaion with the least unprofitable expenditure of ime and eyesight. The Sun long ago disovered the golden mean between redundant ulness and upsatisfactory brevity. II. Much of that sort of news which depends less upon its recognized importance than upon its interest to mankind. From morning to the lives of real men and women, and of their deeds, plans, loves, hates, and troubles. This story is more varied and more interesting than any romance that was over devised. III. Good writing in every column, and fresh-morning THE SUN prints a continued story of ness, originality, accuracy, and decorum in the reatment of every subject.

IV. Henest comment. The Sun's habit is to speak out fearlessly about men and things.

V. Equal candor in dealing with each political party, and equal readiness to commend what is praiseworthy or to rebuke what is blamable in Democrat or Republican.

VI. Absolute independence of partisan organizations, but unwavering loyalty to trus democratic principles. THE SUN believes that the Government which the Constitution gives us is a good one to keep. Its notion of duty is to resist to its utmost power the efforts of men in the Republican party to set up another form of government in place of that which exists. The year 1851 and the years immediately following will probably decide this supremely important contest. The SUS believes that the victory will be with the people as against the Rings for monopoly, the Rings for plunder, and he Rings for imperial power.

For the Daily Sun, a four-page sheet of twenty eight columns, the price by mail, post paid, is 55 cents a month, or $6.50 a year; or including the Sunday paper, an eight-page sheet of fifty-six columns, the price is 65 cents a month, or $7.70 a rear, postage paid. The Sunday edition of THE SUN is also furnished separately at $1.20 a year postage paid.

Our terms are as follows:

The price of THE WEEELY SUN. eight pages. fifty-six columns, is $1 a year, postage path. For clubs of ten senting $10 we will soul su extra copy free. A tress. I. W. ENGLAND. Publisher of Tak Sun. New York city.
